HONGKONG, THUESDAY, DEC. 9, 1869. BARON VON RICHTHOFEN'S EXPEDITION.

Wg yesterday drew the attention of the Hongkong Chamber of Commerce to the opportunity presented by the expedition undertaken by Baron von Richthofen for examine more fully the general bearing of the subject, the objects to be achieved, and the basis upon which such an undertaking should be conducted. There are many details the arrangement of which must of course be left to the matured experience of mercantile residents. But it may well be that a sketch of the gene ral considerations to be borne in mind will aid them in arriving at a clear idea of what has to be accomplished and how it is to be done. The proposed exploration in question presents itself to public attention under a most favorable aspect, It does not lie with Hongkong to organize an exploring expedition; that has already been done by the Shanghai community. The Chamber has merely, Baron you Richthofen's consent to a companion or companions accompanying him granted, to avail itself of the arrangements made to aid its own views and the interests of foreign trade in China gene-

Placed as foreigners are, at a few noints on the seaboard and rivers of China, without the liberty of residence, or free movement in the interior, they may be said to trade in the country with bandaged eyes; and there has been much in this enforced blindness to account for many of the commercial disasters and heavy losses which frequently. and of late years more especially, have to seriously affected foreign trade. It is but repeating a truism to say that foreign and native merchants conduct their business dealings together on unequal terms: it were, in the hands of the Chinaman. At the commencement a fairer equilibthe native market, of the production and | recall memory, to the recording of many demand of the interior, the Chinanian a point, which from its own seeming was as uninformed on the state of Euro-

No loyal the contrary, prolonged and enlarged explorer would grudge the additional intercourse with Europeans has produced trouble which would best secure the very different results. He has obtained fruits of his labor. more than a glimpse of, or an acquaintance with, the general character and vernment's increasing detestation of the and respectful terms, and asserts (though more intelligent, shrewd, and clever man for it will have a lasting political effect. of business; but we are decidedly of a contrary opinion, and maintain that he is out of comparison with the European.

Whatever causes however have put the foreign merchant at so great a disadvantage with the Chinese, it must be clear to depot. Already about 400 coolies are all here that one of the first steps necessary to the correction of the evil is as full and complete an acquaintance as possible with every shred and scrap of practical, accurate and reliable information about the condition of the country and working of trade in the interior. Every item of such knowledgestrengthens the foreigner's position, and will assuredly become one of the levers by which the visinertia of Great Britain's Chinese policy will be overcome. These are the objects to be achieved by the commercial expedition which we urge should be set on foot. sequiring some reliable information re No sort of information, even to the garding the commercial status and pros minutest details, should be passed over or for coppering, and three more are in the pects of Western China. As a matter observation, they may appear of trifling observation, they may appear of trifling importance; for it is more frequently by coming brisk.

The Hillo Lighthouse and three more are in the stream awaiting their turn, so it would has been erected at Paukaa Point, entrance to Hillo Harbor, Hawaii. The light is at an elevation of 50 fact above the see level as it forms almost pear a great resummance, and three more are in the stream awaiting their turn, so it would be as it forms almost pear a great resummance, and three more are in the stream awaiting their turn, so it would be a possessing peculiar interest to the mere importance; for it is more frequently by coming brisk, than by the presentment of one prominent fact that the mind is influenced and the opinion guided. A delegate's plan of inquiry might well be divided into three great heads. 1. The Condition the Country; 2. Its Population Its Trade. We place them in this order as that which a observations would naturally follow. The first would of course be divided several branches; its physical character formation, topography, productions, me teorology, etc., these again being subdivided for the more accurate collection of information. A country's physical character and formation embracing so many separate subjects, must be of the highest interest and utmost importance. and a knowledge of its details might help to direct investigation to others of an entirely different character, and lead to the correction of false conclusions. In the same way inquiry under the head population should divide itself into personal appearance, dress, occupation, habits and customs, character, religion, traditions, health, crime, etc., Observations on trade might take shape and will be accepted when they come, as the completeness in a report upon commodities, industries and manufactories, customs and usages, banking and currency, | WE learn on good authority that the transport, communications, trades, mar- marriage of the Emperor of China kets of supply and demand, etc., etc. deferred until the autumn of 1870, Under each of these divisions, a separate, which period, it seems probable, series of inquiries would present them. > WE learn that two United States Emigration boarding-houses have been opened at Shek Tong Tani on the Praya, next door to the Belgo-Peruvian Emigration daily fed, and the prospects of the agency seem encouraging. As this scheme is under the sanction of the Hongkong Government, and the press of the United States has shown itself fully determined to uphold the proper treatment of Chinese emigrants—the terms offered moreover being exceedingly fair and liberalwe have no hesitation in wishing it success. A most favorable element is the desire manifested for every publicity, the surest check upon abuses of whatever nature. At Messrs MacDonald's Slip, emigration purposes is already hauled up them. - Bulletin.

In connection with this matter we subjoin the following very satisfactory paragraph from the New York Commercial Advertiser of October 20th :--

There was a strike recently on a bridge at Council Bluffs. The contractors at once sent to California and hired one hundred Chinese laborers to take the place of those who had struck. They pay these workmen a month, against $45 to the former workmen, and are quite as well supplied New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg have already sent agents to China to bring emigrants to them. It will complete the railroad tem of the South and Southwest. remove obstructions from rivers. harbors, construct wharves and do all the drudgery that heretofore has been done by others. The Chinese will work more cheaply, and so the immer cost of these public works will be reduced. The problem that the Chinese emigration ropounds is surrounded with many perplexing questions, but we have no doubt hese will settle themselves. In California there is a changed feeling in regard to this labor, and at the South prejudice vielded to welcome. At the East there has been no hostility to the Chinese, and organized effort to introduce them. They pioneers of a new era in domestic service.

JAPAN, (Gazette, Yokohama, Dec. 2.)

In this country, whilst the operation the harvest are occupying all the farming lass, and mercantile men are doing the best they can to rub along, and make business, the government is trying to lay all things in train for the coming session. The Governors of the provinces, no longer rejoicing in their old titles of daimios, are presumed to be making up a statement of their territories, retainers and revenues as required of them by the Mikado, with view to the Imperial arrangements being made to take them over and to provide the princes themselves with a sufficient income it is a question the solution of which i awaited with very considerable interest whether the returns will be honestly made and on this being ascertained the real feel of the country with respect to the re cent changes in the government will be revealed. It is of very considerable moment therefore, and various rumours are abroad A cakeseller named Chea Akum was fined respecting the anticipated action of some of the leading mon. It is hazardous to give utterance to an opinion on Japanese affairs, but we do not look for any trouble An interesting procession recently passed along the Tokaido, or high road between

Kioto, the old seat of Mikadonic sanctity and Yedo, the Governmental city, in which His Majesty now resides. The Empress, young lady of some sixteen or seventeen summers, was on her way to join her lord at the Eastern Capital. The arrangements made along the road were similar to those made when the Mikado himself passed. The rough places had been made smooth and the upper stories of the houses were all closed and the windows sealed that no curious eye might look on the illustrious lady from above. A place had been set apart for foreigners to which all might go to view the cortêge, and of which many availed themselves. The Japanese multitude assembled along the road and ness dealings together on unequal terms: illustration of the principle on which that the foreigner stands at a disadvantage which ciple of subdivision of labor applies.
